Yes ...

I am a cat.

There she is.

Her beautiful eyes

Her beautiful body.

I've always been alone, like a cat.

Then I met a girl.

* The author has given a short title to this which is Cat Couple. However, the full title seen above is : A common couple who met through a cat.

Translated by Sura's Place

I wasn't particularly close to my family.

I'm used to being alone.

... but, it's pretty unexpected, huh?

And later I was left all alone.

In a people-less world where everyone is a stranger.

After I was kicked out because I couldn't pay my rent, I arrived at the last stop.

I was really hungry but my pride as a house cat rejected my desire to search garbage.

Break us

Pitiful

I felt like people were looking at me with pity.

Then I met her.

She came to my vision.

She startled and took a step back at first.

She eventually approached me very carefully and poked me few times.

Her face and body were smoking but she seemed to be ... slow.

She startled again and this time she ran away.

And few minutes later...

She brought a bread and milk.

I drank the milk in a heart beat.

She beamed a smile at me and said, "My, you were really hungry, weren't you."

I thought she was going to take me to her home....

But ...

She was going home alone.

I gave all my effort to give her the adorable cat look.

I am sorry... My parents will freak out.

No animal is allowed at home...

Having told me that, she left.

I fell into despair...

.....

.....

.....